BEVINS MAKES OUTLINE OF HIS CONVENTION PLAN

Director-General Reads Report to Gathering at Get-together Dinner of Maui Chamber

Maui has set the date for the Civic convention, sketched the general outline of the program and appointed Mr. E. R. Bevins the director-general in charge of the event.

The special committee of the Maui Chamber of Commerce held its meeting for settling the date and many preliminaries on Thursday afternoon preceding the "get-together" dinner of Thursday evening. During the dinner Mr. Bevins read the report of the committee which is given in full and put the Civic convention in full definite swing. His report follows:

To the President and Members of the Maui Chamber of Commerce:

Your committee appointed to take charge of all arrangements for the third annual Civic convention, to be held on Maui during the year 1914, reports as follows:

At a meeting of your committee held June 26th, Mr. William Seaby and J. J. Walsh were appointed a committee on accommodations to make a canvass of hotels and private houses to ascertain as nearly as possible the number of delegates who could be accommodated, also to communicate with the various Civic organizations throughout the territory, ascertain as nearly as possible the number of delegates who would attend the convention, and to report within four weeks.

At a meeting of the committee held July 21, this committee on accommodations reported that accommodations could be secured for probably 200 delegates. However it seemed advisable that there be no over-crowding, and it was decided to place the number of delegates at 175, this number to be apportioned among the various bodies represented.

A general discussion of the best and most efficient method of handling the convention resulted in a decision that a director should be appointed, he to have charge of all arrangements; with power to call committees and sub-committees together, and to call upon any or all members of the Civic convention committee, or of the Chamber of Commerce; he to be ex-officio a member of all committees and sub-committees. Mr. E. R. Bevins appointed such director.

Date of Convention: Your committee has fixed the date of the convention as October 3rd to 5th both inclusive. This date will, it is thought be most convenient for all concerned.

Finances: Your committee has decided that the expenses of the convention should be defrayed by subscription and a finance committee consisting of Messrs D. C. Lindsay, R. A. Wadsworth and J. J. Walsh was appointed to work with Mr. W. H. Rice, treasurer. Mr. Rice was also authorized to call on such other members of the Chamber of Commerce as he may consider necessary to assist in the raising of the necessary funds.

Transportation: Messrs. Wm. Walsh, L. von Tempelky and W. F. Pogue were named as a transportation committee. It is probable that special trips will be arranged up Haleakala and along the ditch for October 4 for such delegates as may express a desire to take the same.

Refreshments: Messrs. Wadsworth, Penhallow and Bevins were appointed a committee on refreshments; they to have full charge of all lunches,

INTERESTING FEATURES PROMISED AT EMPLOYED BOYS' CLUBS MEETING

One of the features of the celebration which the employed boys' clubs of the Y. M. C. A. are having next Monday night, will be Joseph Stickney's talk on his ten months' trip around the world. Not only is he an interesting talker but he has a large number of postal cards collected in all parts of the world and these will be thrown on the screen from a reflectoscope. His lecture will follow immediately after the supper in Cooke Hall which comes at 6:15 p. m.

Every fall it is customary to re-organize the clubs in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. and this will be the last meeting of the nine clubs which have now been together for ten months. The prizes for the year are to be given out. Eighteen pennants go to the championship teams in cross country, indoor baseball, volleyball, basketball, track, the decathlon, swimming and baseball.

The prize which is most coveted by the boys is the large shield, which goes to the best all-round team in each division. This is awarded not only on the basis of points won in the different sports on the athletic calendar for the year, but for attendance at Bible study and for service rendered as well. The Washington Club is the winner in division A and in the other section there is a close race between the Shermans, the Peters and the Lees. The winning club in this division will not be announced until Monday night.

One of the other attractions on the evening's program is C. F. Loomis' talk on "The Boys of the Association in the States." Mr. Loomis has just returned from an extended trip visiting the various associations throughout the states and has some interesting stories to tell the boys as well as some new plans to suggest for next year.

All boys who have been members of clubs during the past ten months are invited to attend, because this is the windup of the club year. In order to get a seat at the supper table in Cooke Hall your name should be handed in at the boys' department.

dinners, luau and banquets and arrangements therefor.

Convention Program Committee: Messrs J. J. Walsh, D. C. Lindsay and F. F. Baldwin were named as a committee on the convention program.

It is the sense of your committee that Saturday, October 3 should be the opening day of the business portion of the convention; that the convention convene at 9 a. m. at the Armory at Wailuku, that the day and that evening be devoted to business, lunch at noon to be served at the Maui Hotel at which short talks will be arranged for.

On Sunday the delegates will be shown the various points of interest on the island, with a luau to be given at noon at Haiku and Kulaha, at which the program will be in charge of the Honolulu Ad Club. Sunday evening a dinner will be arranged for at Lahaina, the delegates returning to this side of the island by auto immediately after.

On Monday the business session will be continued, and Monday evening a banquet will be given at the Maui Hotel after which delegates will be escorted to the steamer Mauna Kea which, it is expected, will stop at McGregor's for them. Kona delegates will be able to return by Mauna Loa on Tuesday.

The details of the program itself are necessarily indefinite at this time, but will be worked out later by the committee appointed therefor.

Your committee feels that very satisfactory progress is being made, that we have a good working organization, and that the convention can be handled very efficiently and satisfactorily.

Respectfully submitted,
F. F. BALDWIN,
H. B. PENHALLOW,
H. W. RICE,
J. J. WALSH,
R. A. WADSWORTH,

E. R. BEVINS,

COMPANY M TRAVELED FROM HILO IN REAL MILITARY FASHION

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

HILO, July 24.—The boys of Company M, the Hilo detachment of the National Guard of Hawaii, are leaving this morning on the Mauna Kea for Honolulu to participate in the five days' military maneuvers which are to begin there tomorrow. The Honolulu companies, according to dispatches received this week, are having difficulty in getting out the required quota of men, the employers refusing to let the young fellows quit their jobs for that length of time, and a corporal's guard may be turned out to compel their attendance; but no such difficulty confronts the officers of the Hilo company. Of the enlistment of 69 men, about 55 will be on hand when the steamer sails this morning.

Company M goes under the charge of 1st Lieut. H. H. Morehead and 2d Lieut. Caceres. Captain J. D. Easton, who has always been in command at the annual maneuvers in the past, is unable to attend this year for business reasons.

"Lieutenant Morehead has been with the company several times, however," said Captain Easton yesterday, "and he thoroughly understands the work. He needs the experience as first in command and I thought this would be a good time for him to get it. Company M is not a troop of novices and 'rookies,' and it should perform with distinction this year. I believe the boys will give a good account of themselves."

Company M is to be sequestered on the top deck of the Mauna Kea, and in true military style will not be permitted to mingle with the passengers, save those who care to visit the men in their own quarters. It had not been decided yesterday whether they would be expected to supply their own provender on the trip to Honolulu or whether the Inter-Island should furnish it to them.

The date of the company's return is still rather indefinite. The orders read that Company M shall return to Hilo Thursday, but this likely will prove impossible as no boat leaves the capital city for the Big Island next Thursday. The encampment does not end until Wednesday night and Wednesday is one of the most important of the maneuvers, so the boys cannot start homeward on the Mauna Kea Wednesday morning. Captain Easton thinks they probably will get away Saturday, August 1.

Governor Pinkham signed two paroles yesterday afternoon, the first for Eben Napoleon, who was convicted of a statutory offense last February and sentenced to serve a term of from three months to five years. The second was for Sho San Bok, who was convicted of burglary a year ago and sentenced to serve not less than two nor more than 20 years.
